

Global Agri Traders was established in July 2023 by Larry Snyders and his wife, Phidelia. The company was a natural result from increasing numbers of international clients with growing demand for livestock in which was a mere informal trading platform to supplement the farm's income. We aim to breed and produce to supply local and international markets with high quality agricultural products that include cattle, livestock, embryos, lucerne and other agricultural products. We have established clientele in South Africa under which Landbank and globally in Botswana, Egypt, Russia and now also potential clients in Brazil.

DORPER FARMER BY WEEKEND, ENGINEER BY WEEKDAY

» Started with just five ewes from South Africa

BOTETI—By weekday, Sebilev Leswadula is a full-time civil engineer working for the government. But come the weekend, he trades in his hard hat for gumboots, tending to his thriving White Dorper sheep farm.

Leswadula began his farming journey in 2013 with only five ewes (female sheep) and one ram, purchased from renowned White Dorper breeder Larry Snyder in South Africa's Northern Cape. Since then, he has grown his flock significantly, also sourcing quality stock from auction sales in Namibia.

"I specialise exclusively in White Dorpers," he said. "Though I work full-time during the week, I treat this project as a business."

Despite being a strong believer in full-time farming, Leswadula has managed to make his weekend venture a success. His disciplined approach and commitment have seen him supply clients across Botswana, reaching as far as the Kweneng region.

"The market is promising, especially since there are very few White Dorper breeders in Botswana," he noted.

Leswadula's story is a testament to what determination and smart planning can achieve—even within the limitations of a weekend farmer's schedule.
